MADE TO A GAIA STANDARD

With more than 35 years of experience creating botanical products, Gaia Herbs balances the time-honored wisdom of herbalism with the analytic rigor of science. Made to a Gaia Standard means made to a higher standard. We grow ingredients with love and care. We back product formulations with science, including quality and integrity testing from harvest through manufacturing. We protect the future with regenerative and sustainable agriculture.

- Since our founding in 1987, Gaia Herbs has been committed to responsible sourcing to ensure clean products that maintain the integrity of their nature-derived ingredients.
- The Gaia Standard began with our founder, an herbalist whose background in both Western and Eastern herbalism remains the backbone of our approach to wellness. Our experts today continue to ensure that all Gaia Herbs' products are plant-powered and science-backed.

Our Regenerative Organic Certified™ farm is at the heart of Gaia Herbs, and delivering purity is at the heart of our process.

- Gaia Herbs' unique certified organic farm encompasses 350 acres sustainably growing more than three million plants each year—making it one of the largest and most productive commercial herb farms in the United States.
- To keep the heart of our operation in peak form, we use advanced science to analyze soil, genetics, and potency of our plants—utilizing our own ISO-17025 certified laboratory.
- We are certified organic by Oregon Tilth and Regenerative Organic Certified™ (ROC) by the Regenerative Organic Alliance, demonstrating a commitment to agriculture that is sustainable—because the reality of the future depends on the actions of today.

We prioritize the quality of our products—because we know you prioritize your patients' quality of care.

- Quality starts at the source. We always know exactly where the ingredients in our products come from. We share sourcing and testing information with you and your patients on meetyourherbs.com.
- With decades of experience, we've perfected our processes, which set the gold standard for the industry.
